

what a gift of Gratitude means

Has a physician, nurse or staff member made a difference in your child's life? Did someone make you or other family members feel more comfortable?

A Gift of Gratitude says thank you in a way that sometimes words just can't. It's a way to tell that special caregiver you appreciate what they did for your child.

gifts of Gratitude

Honor someone who was dedicated to your child with a Gift of Gratitude.

Gifts of Gratitude offers you a way to say thanks and give special recognition to that person who made a difference in your child’s life at a time when they needed it most. Your generosity will help support the life-saving mission of Children’s and greatly affirms and encourages the caregiver.

How it works

Use the attached form to identify the person you wish to recognize. Specify your gift amount and enclose it in the pre-paid envelope. (You also may present the envelope to your nurse or caregiver in person.) The amount will be kept confidential.

We will send a letter announcing your recognition of the honoree, and their supervisor will be notified. The honoree will receive a Gifts of Gratitude pin they can wear to remember your thoughtfulness.

Thank you for your support!
